~~RETURN TO CIA~~
~~100-111~~

On 16 March 1952, the Kindel troop training grounds near Eisenach (L 51/H 76) was occupied by only a detail of about 60 soldiers who had arrived on 14 March and were repairing the low wooden barracks buildings. No new low wooden barracks buildings were under construction. Highway No 84 from Eisenach to Langensalza was blocked by road barriers east of Grossenlupnitz and west of Grossenbehringen after 16 March. One sentry guarded the road barrier at Grossenbehringen and another guarded the barrier west of Maina. The road barrier near Grossenlupnitz was unguarded. In about the centre of the training area, Highway No 84 was widened to 4 meters and paved. The construction of a new bridge across the Nesse River east of Maina was completed in early March.
